

Finally! Housekeeping "how-to" from a guy's point of view!

Clean Like a Man by Tom McNulty
Trade Paper, ISBN 1-4000-4975-X, $12.95

Visit the Clean Like a Man web site for more information on this book and even more manly cleaning advice:

www.cleanlikeaman.com

It's the book every man needs...and every woman desperately wants him to have.

Crown Publishing/Random House

Most men have a problem with housekeeping: they don't know how to do it, and they don't particularly want to learn. The results are usually a messy house, an angry spouse — or both.

Clean Like a Man is the answer! It's the first and only housekeeping primer that tells men how to clean the house their way: getting household chores done quickly and easily, without getting too Felix Unger about it.

MANdatory Advice, Strategic MANeuvers and more.

Clean Like a Man starts with "The Men Commandments" — housekeeping's golden rules transformed into guy-friendly guidelines — followed by the basics on tools, products, and techniques. Then the book goes room-by-room with no-frills instructions on dusting, washing, vacuuming, and achieving a clean, organized home. Men will find dozens of Home MANagement tips and tricks geared to save hours of work, buckets of money, and worlds of hurt.

Clean Like a Man skips all the fussy stuff, and because the male attention span is notoriously short, the book always cuts to the chase. The advice is clear, straight to the point, always informative, and often very funny.

When it comes to housekeeping, author Tom McNulty knows that men have only one thing on their minds: getting the place clean and presentable as fast as possible.

It's such a great approach to housekeeping, lots of women will love it too!

The book delivers dozens of tips, tricks and "Strategic MANeuvers" guaranteed to streamline the manly cleaning process.

About the Author

TOM McNULTY is a writer and student of cleaning who has spent a lifetime observing the Clean Like a Man dynamic and perfecting his own house-keeping style. He lives in Minneapolis with his dog, Coco, who has an irrational fear of vacuum cleaners.

Represented by

Susan Nowling, Literary & Promotions Agent
954-987-0013
planetwh@bellsouth.net

